

Ways Homeowners Pay for a Roof

A simple overview of common options

A new roof is a real investment, and there's usually more than one way to handle it. Here's a general overview of how homeowners commonly pay. Your Green Ladder rep can explain what applies to your specific project.

Common options

- ✓ Cash or check — the simplest route for many homeowners.
- ✓ Card or bank transfer — convenient for those who prefer it.
- ✓ Financing — financing options may be available, subject to approval. This lets some homeowners spread the investment over time.

One tip: when comparing roofers, look at the total project value, not just a monthly number. A lower monthly payment can hide a longer term or a weaker roof system.

About the details

Specific terms, monthly amounts, and approvals are handled personally by your Green Ladder rep, that way you get accurate answers for your exact situation rather than a guess.

Want options for your exact project?

Payment options depend on your specific proposal, and your rep can walk through what applies. Compare total cost, not just the monthly payment.

Text Taylor at (626) 587-3770 to have your rep go over payment options for your roof.